

Beautiful BREMEN home & garden tour

June 27 & 28, 2009 1 - 4 pm

*Press Release***

Picture historic homes and beautiful gardens situated among tree-lined brick streets. Where could you find such a scene?

The Beautiful Bremen Home & Garden Tour will let you experience those homes and gardens. The Beautiful Bremen tour is part of the Village of Bremen's year-long 175th anniversary celebration.

Situated in southeastern Fairfield County and the Hocking Hills area, Bremen grew as an oil-producing town in the early 1900s.

"Bremen has dozens of homes that were built early in the Village's history," according to Bremen Area Chamber of Commerce President Connie Moyer. "I think that showcasing these homes will help develop pride in our community."

"Many homes in Bremen are surrounded by interesting gardens. As part of our commitment to the Village's celebration, we are sponsoring a garden competition along with the home tour," said Jeff Bazell, owner of Flowers of the Good Earth.

Flowers of the Good Earth, the Village's only florist and gardening center, is working closely with the Chamber to plan this event. "We will be offering prizes to local gardeners in a variety of categories to encourage homeowners to participate," said Bazell. "The Good Earth will also provide discounts on plants to those who enter the competition."

Local garden clubs will also be promoting the event.

Churches within the Village have been invited to open their doors for visitors, and local artisans will be stationed at the churches to demonstrate their crafts.

The Bremen Area Historical Society will be offering refreshments and free entertainment during the Beautiful Bremen Tour.

Tickets are available on tour days for $10.00 or advance purchases are available at $8.00.

The Beautiful Bremen Tour is sponsored by Flowers of the Good Earth, Bremen Area Chamber of Commerce, Bremen Area Historical Society, and the Village of Bremen.
